

To whom it may concern:

I am writing to express my concern about the FCC weakening the Indiana do not call list. I enjoy my privacy and I am very happy with the way do not call is being handled in Indiana. I am an intelligent adult, as most residents of Indiana are, who does not need telemarketers calling my home. If I need the services of any company, I will seek them on my own. Any calls I receive in telemarketing will be companies I avoid because they violate my personal privacy in my home.

It is important that these companies realize that they are violating my rights as an American citizen when they come into my home via telephone when they are uninvited to do so.

Please leave Indiana's no call list as it is. Everyone I have talked to in Indiana appreciates the privacy and quiet this has created in each of our homes.

Thank you for listening!
